

Privacy Statement LINDE + WIEMANN GmbH KG Version April 2011

LINDE + WIEMANN GmbH KG takes the protection of your personal data very seriously and strictly observes the rules of the data protection acts.

When visiting our websites, our web server automatically saves the domain name or the IP address of your internet service provider including date, time and duration of your visit, the subpages/URLs which you visit and the information about the computer/the software you used to show our websites. Furthermore, we save information regarding the use which is generated by the transactions provided (e.g. downloads).

If indicated, personal data are only collected in the technically necessary scope on this website. The data collected are not sold or passed on to third party for any reason by no means. Your data can be used for statistic purposes and for marketing purposes in an anonymised form.

By our internet presence you are able to submit an email application via your own email system. Please take into consideration that email is not a secured service and that emails without encoding may be read by third parties during transmission. We do not have any influence on your email dispatch. If you wish to send the emails in a secured way, our IT appreciates to make a secured submission possible provided this is technically feasible with your infrastructure.

We and our affiliated companies collect, process and use the data in the scope of this privacy statement. As far as we engage third parties with individual activities to meet our services, these third parties are also entitled to collect, process and use data for the purposes mentioned in this statement. Nevertheless, we assure you that the third parties are contractually obliged to maintain your data protection rights in this case.

Beyond this scope, we will principally not pass on your data and information to third parties without your express approval. This does not exclude the transfer of data in anonymised form which makes an identification of your person impossible. We may pass on personal data to third parties if we are obliged to do so by law or based on an order of an authority or a court.

So called cookies are used at several places of the internet pages. They shall make our offer more user-friendly, more effective and safer. Cookies are small text files which are filed on your computer and which your browser saves. Most of the cookies we use are so-called "session cookies". They are automatically deleted when you leave our site. Cookies do not cause any damage to your computer and do not contain any virus.

You are anytime entitled to receive information on the data saved regarding your person, about their origin and the recipient as well as about the purpose of storage. Our data protection officer is responsible for information on the data saved.

Your confidence is important for us. Therefore, we give you any information required regarding the "processing of your personal data".

If you have questions or wish to receive more detailed information on a certain issue, please contact our data protection officer anytime.
